

Postcards

Some postcards just slithered through your mail slot, all linked.

One of them is differently shaped and is completely blank – there's not even any color. Well, without further ado, let's take a closer look!

Painters would love to be here – plenty of shops selling tools for them. The residents also took very good care of their hair and teeth.

XXXXXX

*One of the stranger towns in this valley.
The resident acted like they were on drugs, but they insisted they were just drinking soda.*

XXXXXXXXXX

Some famous people originated from this town, such the most recent actor of a secret agent or the first Prime Minister of Northern Ireland.

---  ---
XXXXXX

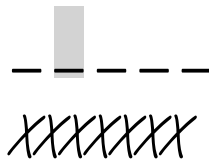

This town is home to a very famous American supermodel and the 2018 WBO Welterweight Champion.

---  ---
XXXXXXXXXX

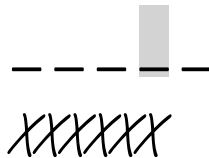

A great place for sports matches, competitions and the like - the residents here are all really good sports.

---  ---
XXXXXXXXXX

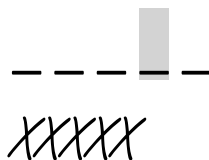

Lovely place... for patriots and people who like communicate using semaphores. Apparently, the Lunar Electric Rover was invented here.

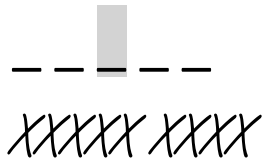

Colorful glass balls are very popular in this town. The houses and statues made from white limestone are also very pretty.

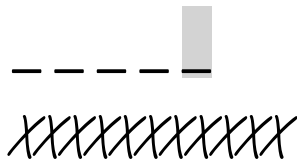

One of this town's power plants made people worry about ionizing radiation, but then they removed the erbium.

*Deep down, I enjoyed my stay here, close to Antarctica,
although the people
had this strange obsession with spiky
kitchen utensils.*

Everyone in this town has bright yellow skin and huge eyes. I even met a lady with a massive tower of blue hair on her head.

Enthusiasts for ancient Roman poetry made this town go through metamorphoses.

XXXX

Do you enjoy
youth culture?
Over here you can find all the wild
kids in America!

XXX

Generations enjoy
this town's Scottish TV writer's shows
about a blue phone
box and a detective.

XXXXXX

Every year, 1000
kg of a precious
gray coinage metal
are dug up from
this town's mine.

XXXXXXXXXX

Calm as the sea,
this town almost became a state
capital — if only it had had more salt!

XXXX XXXX

One of Shakespeare's most famous plays
was set in this town.
It is also home to NATO's 18th base.

XXXXX

Unbelievably, this town was struck by a meteor and yet they did not go extinct!

XXXXXXXXXX

Never anger a teacher here! They have magic powers, a sadistic streak and a love for pink.

XXXXXXXXXX

This place's excess of sweet things has made the residents addicted to an Archies song.

XXXXXX XXXX

Blessed be this place described in the bible as rich in gold. King Solomon traded with it.

XXXXXX

You can see birds of prey associated with many countries, including the US, around here.

XXXXXX

Civil Disobedience writer Thoreau famously wrote a book about this town's simple living.

XXXXXXX

Excellent place for the manufacture of small balls for use in necklaces — until the first bee died.

XXXX

Lately, the Queen of England visits
this town often — maybe because of a personal connection.

XXXXXXXXXX

Lovers of soda will enjoy this town for the many dispensers.
If you prefer water,
there's a spring.

XXXXXXXXXX

A German company
for luxury clothing used to be in this town, but then its boss moved away.

XXXX

1000 or more ibex
plants are growing in this town. The perfect place for Christmas parties.

XXXXXX

Zoologists might appreciate this town
for its population of the near-threatened Rallus obsoletus.

XXXXXXXXXX

4th president
 Madison grew up in this town, as well
 as the writer of a Twilight fanfiction.

XXXXXXXXXX

2 people once fell from the sky but landed safely
 thanks to this town
 - or so they say.

XXXXXXXXXX

0	1
2	3

S	R	E	O	L	V	E	S	L
I	A	D	T	F	I	H	R	E
R	L	S	I	N	T	K	L	O
N	E	T	T	E	R	S	F	V
O	O	R	E	R	X	O	N	O
I	T	D	R	I	A	G	A	R
A	C	M	O	F	A	L	T	L
T	I	O	N	H	I	N	T	H
I	R	T	Y	T	O	W	N	S